What does your family do for Sunday dinner?

Growing up, Sunday dinner was the one meal the entire family was required to attend. Now I use Sunday to prepare more time-consuming recipes that I don't have time for during the week. My mom and I share the cooking responsibilities, taking turns hosting. The hostess prepares most of the meal, but the visiting family always pitches in a side or dessert. It's a wonderful time to share a home-cooked meal with the ones we love.

Meredith is a stay-at-home mom to David, 4, and Cameron, 1. Her husband, Don, is a computer programmer. Meredith has organized a social networking group of stay-at-home moms in Suffolk.

JO GROTH PLAINFIELD, IOWA FE

Although our four children are grown, three live in the area, so Sundays are special when they're able to join us. Everyone in our family (11 of us in all, including three grandchildren and my mom) enjoys a roast, either a slow-cooked beef roast or a pork roast on the grill. In the summer, we do kabobs and I marinate the meat the day before. I make a relish tray to munch on before dinner and always prepare a dessert, often cheesecake or pie.

Jo teaches fourth grade at a parochial school. Her husband, Randy, owns a veterinary practice. She made cheesecakes—30 of them—for each of her daughters' weddings.

JENNIFER LAND MIDLAND, TEXAS FE

Sunday is my day to experiment with new recipes, especially side dishes, to help use our CSA (a type of food co-op) share of vegetables each week. We love yummy, hearty meals on Sunday nights. Sometimes it's a roast and veggies in the slow cooker, or Italian comfort food on the stove. I also bake a batch of something sweet and send the leftovers to work with my husband on Monday. I like to involve our kids in the process and sometimes let them choose the recipes.

Jennifer is a massage therapist and childbirth educator. She and her husband, Ross, a computer programmer, have three young children. Jennifer is also active in the local MOMS Club.

Special Stuff

very family has what I call "special stuff"—those beloved foods whose mere mention conjures up wildly vividmemories, complete with heavenly aromas. Homemade cinnamon rolls on a winter morning. Spaghetti sauce simmering on the stove. Mom's fresh-baked chocolate chip cookies. Uncle John's famous barbecued chicken. You get the idea. Admit it: You are probably, at this moment, making a mental list of your own family's special stuff.

We have an abundance of specialness in the Cassidy clan. But I believe my sisters and brother would agree with me that the most hallowed of "stuff" was what we called Gaga's Three-Holer, Gaga being my grandmother and the "three-holer" being just about the moistest devil's food cake on earth. It was so moist that it could be enjoyed easily without frosting (quite something for four avid frosting lovers). Almost as good as eating it was standing on a kitchen chair and helping her make it: sifting the flour, sugar and cocoa not once but three times; carefully carving just the right size holes in the dry ingredients for the vinegar, oil and vanilla; pouring in the water (no measure, simply "to cover all"). Then sitting in agonizing wait for it to bake and cool.

A simple and simply made treat, it was, and remains, the birthday cake of choice for all of us Cassidys. Even our children, for whom Gaga is a distant memory or a mostly benevolent ancestor, know what a three-holer is. (Although I'm pretty sure that at the top of their special stuff list is something fondly known as "squirrel soup"—but I'll save that story for another day.)

Just writing this has started such a flood of memories for me! And really, that's what makes food so special—how it nurtures our spirits as profoundly as it nourishes our bodies—and why the magazine in your hands is the largest food magazine in the whole world. Because it is, in the end, a collection of your special stuff—breakfasts and dinners, snacks and desserts, foods that have nourished and nurtured and created memories for your families in the same way Gaga's Three-Holer did for mine.

Enjoy this issue. Below, I've shared a few of my favorite examples of your special stuff! ■

WE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU!

What's a special ingredient you use to add oomph to everyday foods?

I like to double the amount of garlic called for in a recipe—we're big garlic eaters! Reader Kathy Lowe of Des Moines, lowa, likes to use picante sauce in place of ketchup to add zip to her meat loaf. To give her instant pudding a mousse-like texture, Sallie Ward of Menomonie, Wisconsin, stirs in sour cream. And I love how Maija Bowens of Millersburg, Indiana, sneaks extra vitamins in her whipped potatoes: She adds infant rice cereal!

Dear Jane...

On a cooking show, the chef used a phrase that caught my attention: "Holy Trinity." What did this term have to do with cooking, I wondered?

As I found out, in the culinary world, this term refers to a combination of three ingredients used as a flavor base for recipes. As I thought about it, I realized that I always start my entrees by sauteing onion, celery and garlic—my own cooking trio. Your particular trinity might be based on your ethnic background or your location. Cajun cooking, for instance, relies on onion, celery and bell pepper, while Chinese dishes often begin with scallions, ginger and garlic. Greek cooks frequently start with lemon juice, olive oil and oregano. What's your Holy Trinity? Let me know.

TOH editorial assistant Jane Stasik reads all of your letters and e-mails. Feel free to drop her a note at DearJane@tasteofhome.com

SUCH A THRILL

I wanted to jot you a quick note to say thank you for using my steamed dumplings recipe in your recent issue. While I always look forward to seeing the recipes in Taste of Home, it was a special thrill to be able to see my own contribution in your magazine. My family got a big kick out of it, too! Thank you for your work in keeping TOH the best magazine for home cooks everywhere! —STEVE NIEDERLOH CHAMPLIN, MINNESOTA

Editor's Note: You're very welcome, Steve. We loved your recipe and so did many other readers, including Sue from New Hampshire (at right).

LEFTOVER TURKEY AT ITS FINEST

I was searching for a recipe to use my bamboo steamer and found one in the December/January issue of Taste of Home. Steve Niederloh's Steamed Pork and Shrimp Dumplings recipe just needed a few changes for me and it was spectacular. I substituted leftover turkey from Thanksgiving for the shrimp and used sausage in place of the pork. My daughter and I had a nice time making these easy dumplings. The sauce is a great complement to them.

LOVE LETTER: TASTES LIKE HOME

I met the love of my life online almost 2 years ago. I moved to Canada to be with him, leaving behind my family and friends, and my job. I haven't been able to find work since arriving, so I've become a full-time homemaker. The change was very hard on me. A few months after I moved, I got my first issue of Taste of Home, a gift from my grandmother. It has been such a blessing. The stories are inspirational and have helped me settle into my new lifestyle. I love experimenting with each new recipe, and your website is a lifesaver when it comes to learning to cook for two people on a budget. I look forward to each issue. Thank you for your amazing magazine! —LIZ PROVENCHER FREDERICTON, NEW BRUNSWICK

We welcome your comments and photos at editors@tasteofhome.com. Each issue, one lucky reader will receive a TOH apron for sending in our favorite "love" letter of the month. Liz, your apron is on its way!

WONDERFUL TRADE-OFF

This past Thanksgiving, my husband, daughter and I traveled to Lexington, Kentucky, to spend the holiday with our son, Jason; his wife, Lindsay; and their 6-month-old son, Jaxon. They were so excited to host their first Thanksgiving dinner. When we got there I noticed the October/November issue of Taste of Home on the counter, all beat up and corners curled.

Jason and Lindsay enjoy cooking, and they told me they would be cooking and I would be babysitting (sounded like heaven to me). They worked all day and made the most wonderful meal! For an appetizer, we had the Cherry-Brandy Baked Brie-it was awesome! They made the Champagne-Basted Turkey (best turkey I ever had), Green Beans in Yellow Pepper Butter, and my favorite, Honey-Thyme Butternut Squash. We all agreed it was one of the best meals of all time, and my husband and I come from families of great cooks. I've gotten TOH for many years, and now I also get it for my kids. I'm so glad they like to cook. Your magazine is inspiring, and we all love it!

GREAT FIND Happy St. Pat's, Y'all!

Southern hospitality meets Irish tradition in Savannah, Georgia, at the world's second largest St. Patrick's Day parade. TOH reader Becky Phillips Rhinehart, a Savannah resident, has watched it for years.

"My husband's office is on the parade route," she says. "We line the sidewalk with hundreds of chairs. Friends and family return every year for the parade. There's lots of food and fun!"

At the top o' the morn, upwards of 300,000 people gather on the streets of downtown to watch the 3-hour event, which features more than 350 entries, including military divisions, bagpipe and drum corps, and more.

The parade marks the conclusion of a 2-week St. Patrick's Day celebration that includes the Greening of the Fountain in Forsyth Park, Irish dance, food and music. This year's 187th annual parade is scheduled for 10:15 a.m. on March 17. For more information, visit savannahsaintpatricksday.com.

GIMME 5: Hot Potatoes

Baked potatoes are a dinnertime staple, but you can only top them with sour cream so many times before spuds become duds. Here are some of our staff's favorite other tater toppers.

"Potatoes are a great way to use up leftover taco meat and toppings. I also like to make double-baked potatoes and add tuna and cheese to the filling for a main dish."

—PEGGY WOODWARD, RD FOOD EDITOR

"When I think of a recipe triumph, I think of the many summers I spent mastering great-tasting homemade lemonade, just like my mom used to make. Her delicious, thirst-quenching lemonade is famous in our family and the community where she lives.

"When our kids were young, I wanted to make lemonade as good as my mom's, but without all the work. It took a few summers to get the recipe right, but after many, many tries, I got it. Once I finally mastered it, almost 20 years ago, our kids set up a lemonade stand and sold over 5 gallons in a couple of hours. They were thrilled! Since then, I've bartered services for a gallon or two of lemonade, provided countless gallons to farmers working in the hayfield and shared it at church dozens of times. Last summer, we sold over 10 gallons in 2 hours at a fund-raising concession stand.

BRIGHT IDEAS for welcoming friends & family into your home

open/louse | Tour My KITCHEN

ac Freeman and Paige Ponder's old kitchen was a catchall space, where they cooked, worked and played. Or at least tried to. "It was really awkward," says Paige. "Our house was built in 1898, and the previous owners remodeled the kitchen once or twice."

Despite those attempts to make the space more functional, the kitchen remained less than ideal. "We'd open a cabinet door and feel a whoosh of cold air. The room was always freezing because it was so poorly insulated," Paige says.

"Plus, the fridge opened into a hallway-type space, and there were two ovens under the peninsula, making it difficult to sit around," says husband Zac.

After living with the kitchen for more than a year, the couple decided to give it their own overhaul. First thing on their list? "Warmth!" they say with a laugh. "And more light and counter space, better flow, a place to sit around the peninsula, and room for our boys—

Max, 6; Sebastian, 4; and Calvin, 15 months—to play, eat and do their homework."

Because Zac and Paige wanted to work with their home's old bones, they turned to a local design firm to put together a kitchen that not only complemented their historic home, but also met their modern-day needs.

"We saw ourselves as stewards of the house and wanted to honor its history with the remodel," Paige says.

After 8 months of work that involved expanding the room's square footage, Zac and Paige now have a kitchen that fits their family—and their house—perfectly.

"There's plenty of space for everyone. It's open, and there's so much natural light," says Paige. "I have a view into the back and front yards. When we cook, anything we need is just a few steps away. And the kitchen finally matches the feel of the rest of the house."

A feel that is—at last—just like home. ■

A Family-Friendly Kitchen

There's something for everyone here, making it an ideal space for cooks and kids alike

Light up The Chicago couple worked with design firm Greene & Proppe, which used a glass-block wall to add light and create an open feel without eliminating storage space as regular windows would.

Let it all hang out "Since I can't hang anything on our wood-paneled fridge, we use a fabric-covered bulletin board to pin up the kids' artwork and other important papers," Paige says.

Practical placement "Calvin, our youngest, likes to pull everything out of the cabinets," says Paige. "So I keep all of my plastic storage containers in a drawer within reach for him to play with."

Special touches "We chose a BlueStar oven because of the many color options," says Zac of their blue stove. "It's flanked by pullout drawers sized to fit spices and cooking oils."

Fire & Ice In these reinvented classics, peppers turn up the heat, while a fruity red punch plays it cool

Ensenada Shrimp Cocktail

Tomatoes, peppers, onions and cilantro replace traditional cocktail sauce in this lively Southwestern makeover of the popular appetizer. —TERI RASEY CADILLAC, MICHIGAN FE

PREP: 15 MIN + CHILLING YIELD: 8 SERVINGS

- 1 lb. peeled and deveined cooked medium shrimp
- 2 plum tomatoes, seeded and chopped
- 3 jalapeno peppers, seeded and chopped
- serrano pepper, seeded and chopped
- 1/4 cup chopped red onion
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 2 Tbsp. minced fresh cilantro
- 2 Tbsp. olive oil
- 1 Tbsp. rice vinegar
- 1 Tbsp. key lime juice or lime juice
- 1 tsp. adobo seasoning Lime wedges
- 1. In a large bowl, combine the shrimp, tomatoes, peppers, onions and cilantro. Combine the oil, vinegar, lime juice and seasoning; drizzle over shrimp mixture and toss to coat.
- 2. Refrigerate for at least 1 hour. Using a slotted spoon, place shrimp mixture in cocktail glasses, about ½ cup in each. Garnish with lime wedges.

 Editor's Note: When cutting hot peppers, disposable gloves are recommended. Avoid touching your face.

Sun-Dried Tomato Cheese Balls

Your party will heat up once these bacon-coated mini cheese balls are on the table. Nicely spiced with red pepper flakes, they're just the right size for nibbling. —PAMELA STEPP DANDRIDGE, TENNESSEE

PREP: 30 MIN. + CHILLING YIELD: ABOUT 2½ DOZEN

- 12 oz. cream cheese, softened
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- ¼ cup finely chopped oil-packed sun-dried tomatoes
- 1 Tbsp. finely chopped onion
- 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1/2 tsp. crushed red pepper flakes
- 1/8 tsp. pepper
- 1 lb. bacon strips, cooked and crumbled Assorted crackers
- 1. In a large bowl, beat the first eight ingredients until blended. Shape into 1½-in. balls.
- 2. Place bacon into a small shallow dish; roll cheese balls in bacon. Refrigerate for at least 1 hour. Serve with crackers.

Smokin' Hot Deviled Eggs

"Nearly everybody loves deviled eggs, and this variation has a nice kick. You can't go wrong bringing these to a party or potluck." —JAN ROBERTS SAN PEDRO, CALIFORNIA

PREP/TOTAL TIME: 20 MIN. YIELD: 2 DOZEN

- 12 hard-cooked eggs
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 3 chipotle peppers in adobo sauce, finely chopped
- 1 Tbsp. capers, drained
- Tbsp. stone-ground mustard
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. white pepper Minced fresh cilantro

1. Cut eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks; set whites aside. In a small bowl, mash yolks. Add the mayonnaise, chipotle peppers, capers, mustard, salt and white pepper; mix well. Stuff or pipe into egg whites. Refrigerate until serving. Sprinkle with cilantro.

Strawberry Party Punch

After a spicy snack, cool your palate with this festive and fruity punch. Let guests help themselves at the punch bowl, or serve it by the glass with pretty fruit garnishes. —DEIRDRE DEE COXMILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

PREP/TOTAL TIME: 15 MIN.
YIELD: 13 SERVINGS (¾ CUP EACH)

- 6 cups fresh or frozen unsweetened strawberries, thawed
- 3/4 cup thawed limeade concentrate
- 1 can (6 oz.) unsweetened pineapple juice
- 4 cups chilled lemon-lime soda Ice cubes, optional
- 1. Place strawberries in a food processor; cover and process until smooth. Stir in limeade concentrate and pineapple juice. Chill until serving.
- 2. Transfer to a punch bowl. Just before serving, stir in soda. Serve over ice if desired. ■

Beer & Cheddar Fondue

"This great-tasting fondue is my mom's favorite, so I make it for her birthday every year. I like to serve it with apple slices, rye bread cubes and chunks of carrots, mushrooms, celery, zucchini, squash and broccoli." —AMANDA WENTZ VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA

PREP/TOTAL TIME: 15 MIN. YIELD: 2 CUPS

- 4 cups (16 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- 1 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
- 1 cup beer or nonalcoholic beer
- 3 garlic cloves, minced
- 1½ tsp. ground mustard
- ½ tsp. coarsely ground pepper Pretzel dipping sticks and sliced smoked sausage
- 1. In a large bowl, combine cheese and flour. In a small saucepan, heat the beer, garlic, mustard and pepper

- over medium heat until bubbles form around sides of pan.
- 2. Reduce heat to medium-low; add a handful of cheese mixture. Stir constantly, using a figure-eight motion, until almost completely melted. Continue adding cheese, one handful at a time, allowing cheese to almost completely melt between additions. Keep warm. Serve with pretzels and sausage.

Almond Custard Fondue

"I've been serving this smooth, rich dessert fondue for nearly 40 years. It's a wonderful way to bring friends and family together at the end of a fine meal. Grapes, pineapple chunks and pound cake cubes also make delightful dippers."

-PATRICIA SWART

GALLOWAY, NEW JERSEY

PREP/TOTAL TIME: 25 MIN. YIELD: 2 CUPS

- ½ cup sugar
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 2 cups half-and-half cream
- 2 egg yolks, beaten
- 1 Tbsp. butter
- 1¼ tsp. almond extract Cubed brownies, cake, miniature waffles and/or cream-filled chocolate sandwich cookies
- 1. In a large heavy saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir in cream until smooth. Cook and stir over medium-high heat until thickened and bubbly. Reduce heat; cook and stir 2 minutes longer.
- 2. Remove from the heat. Stir a small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to the pan, stirring constantly. Bring to a gentle boil; cook and stir 2 minutes longer. Remove from the heat; stir in the butter and extract. Keep warm. Serve with brownies, cake, waffles and/or cookies.

Cheese Lover's Fondue

French bread cubes and apples are the perfect dippers for this classic fondue, made with white wine and Swiss and Gruyere cheeses. It's a crowd-pleaser.

—LINDA VOGEL ELGIN, ILLINOIS 🙃

4 tsp. cornstarch, divided

- Tbsp. plus 1 cup dry white wine, divided

PREP: 15 MIN. • COOK: 20 MIN.

YIELD: 2 CUPS

- 1½ cups (6 oz.) shredded Gruyere cheese
- 11/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- garlic clove, peeled and halved
- 11/2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1/8 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/8 tsp. dried oregano
- 1/8 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 3 drops hot pepper sauce Cubed French bread and/or sliced apples
- 1. In a small bowl, combine 2 tsp. cornstarch with 1 Tbsp. wine; set aside. Combine cheeses and remaining cornstarch; set aside.
- 2. Rub sides of a large saucepan with cut sides of garlic; discard garlic. Add remaining wine to the pan and heat over medium heat until bubbles form around sides of pan. Stir in lemon juice.
- 3. Reduce heat to medium-low; add a handful of cheese mixture. Stir constantly, using a figure-eight motion, until almost completely melted. Continue adding cheese, one handful at a time, allowing cheese to almost completely melt between additions. Stir in the garlic powder, oregano, Worcestershire sauce and pepper sauce. Stir cornstarch mixture; gradually add to the pan. Cook and stir until thickened and smooth. Keep warm. Serve with bread and/or apples.

Make It Meaty

Melted cheese and chocolate hit the spot at a fondue party. But don't forget the meat! Oil-based fondue gives you the chance to add beef, pork or chicken to your menu. Guests will enjoy cooking bite-sized chunks of meat in the pot of hot oil. Once the cooking is complete, they can help themselves to a variety of dipping sauces (at left).

Just follow these helpful hints for oil-based fondue:

- An electric fondue pot is recommended for cooking the meat because it's easier to control the temperature of the oil. Simply pour 2 to 3 cups of vegetable or canola oil into each fondue pot and heat to 375°. Pieces of meat about 3/4-inch wide will cook in a minute or so.
- A good cut of meat is essential. It should be well trimmed and free of fat, which spatters in the oil. Allow 1/3 to 1/2 pound per person as a main course.
- For even cooking, cut all ingredients into bite-sized cubes. Freeze chicken and steak 1 hour for easier cutting.
- To prevent oil from spattering when dipping the meat, first pat the meat dry with paper towels.
- Do not season meats before cooking; seasonings can burn the oil and give the meat an undesirable flavor.
- Remove meat cubes from the refrigerator about 30 minutes before serving, so they are near room temperature. This prevents the meat from lowering the temperature of the hot oil as quickly.

Making Whoopie... (Pies, That Is!)

A big batch of these darling desserts will put you in the mood for sharing eems there's some historical dispute as to whether whoopie pies—an unusual name for unusually delicious treats—were invented in Maine or among the Amish of Pennsylvania. What's not in dispute is how quickly these handheld crowd-pleasers were embraced by the rest of the country. They're usually made by sandwiching sweet filling between two soft cookies—and the pie's the limit when deciding cookie and filling flavors. So whoop it up by making a batch for your next potluck dinner, girlfriends' gathering or Valentine's Day party. You'll have as much fun making them as eating them.

Red Velvet Whoopie Pies

With a drizzle of chocolate and a sprinkle of nuts, this eye-catching variation is a delightful twist on the classic cake. "Sometimes I substitute canned cream cheese frosting for the filling." —JUDI DEXHEIMER STURGEON BAY, WISCONSIN

Take Back the Tradition

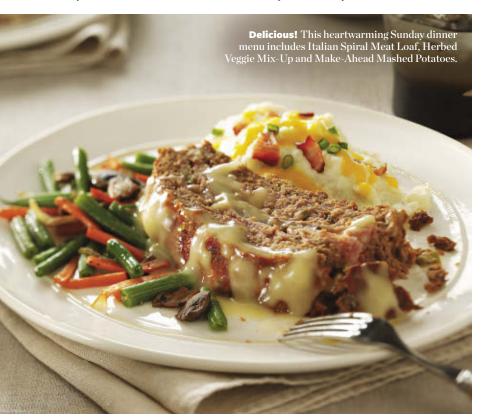

Draw those you love close for this time-honored meal served with a heaping helping of togetherness amily traditions are important to Doug Archer, and he wanted them to mean something to his sons, too. As he looked back on his own childhood, Doug recalled the delicious Sunday dinners at his grandmother's house. For his sons, though, that was a rare occasion, since Doug's parents lived 300 miles away.

So several years ago, he started making Sunday dinner for his own family at their home in Port Elgin, Ontario. "As weekday meals became more and more rushed in our household, with my wife and me shuttling our three boys to soccer fields and hockey arenas," Doug says, "the need to set aside at least one night a week, where we came together for a traditional family dinner, became so important.

"Now Sunday afternoons are spent in the kitchen, peeling, slicing, spicing and roasting. It's a chance to put my busy job out of my mind and let the creative juices flow. And when everything's ready, dinner is served in the dining room with the good china and a white tablecloth. I think my grandma would approve."

Here's your chance to reclaim this much-loved tradition with this menu of updated family classics. And what makes the meal so satisfying is not only the wonderful flavors, but the family members you share them with.

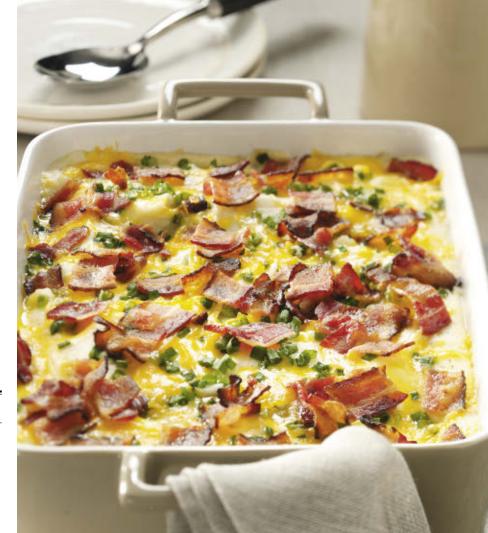

Italian Spiral Meat Loaf

Take a classic comfort food to delicious new heights with this impressive recipe. Sausage, pizza sauce and mozzarella give this entree its Italian accent.

-MEGAN KRUMM SCHERERVILLE, INDIANA

PREP: 40 MIN. • BAKE: 11/4 HOURS YIELD: 15 SERVINGS

- 2 eggs, beaten
- cup pizza sauce, divided
- cup seasoned bread crumbs
- medium onion, chopped
- medium green pepper, chopped
- tsp. dried oregano
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 lbs. lean ground beef (90% lean)
- 1 lb. bulk Italian sausage
- 1/2 lb. sliced deli ham
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded part-skim mozzarella cheese, divided
- 1 jar (6 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1. In a large bowl, combine the eggs, 3/4 cup pizza sauce, bread crumbs, onion, green pepper, oregano, garlic, salt and pepper. Crumble beef and sausage over mixture and mix well.
- 2. On a piece of parchment paper, pat beef mixture into a 12-in. x 10-in. rectangle. Layer the ham, 11/2 cups cheese and mushrooms over beef mixture to within 1 in. of edges. Roll up jelly-roll style, starting with a short side and peeling parchment paper away as you roll. Seal seam and ends. Place seam side down in a greased 13-in. x 9-in. baking dish; brush with remaining pizza sauce.
- 3. Bake, uncovered, at 375° for 1 hour. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 15-20 minutes longer or until no pink remains and a meat thermometer reads 160°. Using two large spatulas, carefully transfer meat loaf to a serving platter.

Make-Ahead Mashed Potatoes

Creamy mashed potatoes get even better when topped with a savory trio of cheese, onions and bacon. Plus, these potatoes offer make-ahead appeal.

—AMANDA SAUER

UNIVERSITY CITY, MISSOURI

Lemonade Cheesecake Parfaits

"My friends like the tartness of the pink lemonade layer against the sweetness of the cheesecake layer. For a pretty look, I top the parfaits with crushed pomegranate seeds and lemon zest." —TEENA PETRUS JOHNSTOWN, PENNSYLVANIA

PREP: 40 MIN. + CHILLING YIELD: 6 PARFAITS

- 2 whole graham crackers, crushed
- 1 cup half-and-half cream
- 1¾ cups sugar, divided
- 2 Tbsp. lemon juice, divided
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 3 tsp. grated lemon peel, divided
- 1 tsp. vanilla extract
- 1¼ cups cold water
- 1 Tbsp. grenadine syrup Dash salt
- 1. Divide graham crackers among six dessert dishes. In a small saucepan, combine the cream, 1 cup sugar and 1 Tbsp. lemon juice. Sprinkle 1 envelope of gelatin over cream mixture; let stand for 1 minute or until softened. Heat over low heat, stirring until gelatin and sugar are completely dissolved.
- 2. In a large bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth. Beat in gelatin mixture. Stir in 1 tsp. lemon peel and vanilla. Pour into glasses over graham crackers, about ½ cup in each. Cover and refrigerate until firm.
- 3. In a small saucepan, combine the water, grenadine, salt and remaining sugar and lemon juice. Sprinkle remaining gelatin over water mixture; let stand for 1 minute.

Heat over low heat, stirring until gelatin and sugar are completely dissolved. Pour 2 Tbsp. mixture into each parfait glass. Cover and refrigerate until firm.

4. Refrigerate remaining grenadine mixture until syrupy, about 30 minutes. With a hand mixer, beat until frothy. Divide among glasses. Cover and refrigerate until firm. Garnish with remaining lemon peel.

Molded Margaritas

With refreshing lime flavor and a festive look, these cool margaritas are perfect for parties. To make a no-alcohol version, simply replace the tequila with an equal amount of water. —BARBARA GERSITZ PHILADELPHIA

PREP: 15 MIN. • YIELD: 4 PARFAITS

- 2 pkg. (3 oz. each) lime gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- ½ cup thawed non-alcoholic margarita mix or limeade concentrate
- ½ cup tequila
- 1. In a small bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in margarita mix and tequila. Pour into four margarita glasses. Refrigerate for 4 hours or until set. Gently stir with a fork before serving if desired.

Goof-Proof Gelatin

- When layering gelatin, refrigerate each layer until the gelatin is set, but not firm, before adding the next layer.
- An easy way to add the next flavor of gelatin without disturbing the previous layer is to gently spoon, rather than pour, each layer onto the previous layer of gelatin.

- 2 pkg. (3 oz. each) orange gelatin, divided
- 2 pkg. (3 oz. each) pineapple gelatin, divided
- 2 pkg. (3 oz. each) lime gelatin, divided
- 1. In a small bowl, dissolve one package of strawberry gelatin in 3/4 cup boiling water. Stir in 3/4 cup cold water. Divide among 12 dessert dishes and refrigerate until set, or pour into a 3-qt. gelatin mold coated with cooking spray and refrigerate until set but not firm, 20-25 minutes.

- 2. In a small bowl, dissolve the remaining package of strawberry gelatin in ½ cup boiling water. Add ½ cup cold water and scant ½ cup cream of coconut; stir. Spoon over the first layer. Chill until set but not firm, 20-25 minutes.
- 3. Repeat six times with remaining gelatin flavors, alternating plain gelatin layers with creamy gelatin layers. Chill each layer until set but not firm before spooning next layer on top. Refrigerate for 4 hours or overnight. Unmold onto a serving platter.

Editor's Note: This recipe takes time to prepare since each layer must be set before the next layer is added.

Spiced Tea Delight

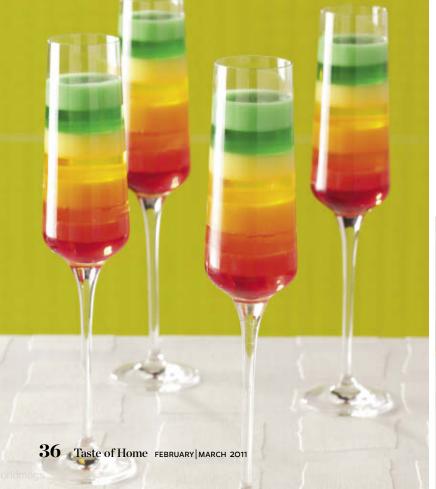

"I came up with this dessert to complement an Asian-themed dinner I was preparing. It has a delicate chai flavor and lovely color." —MARIA BARNET WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

PREP: 25 MIN. + CHILLING YIELD: 6 SERVINGS

- 3 cups water
- 4 ginger-flavored herbal tea bags
- 4 green tea bags
- 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 34 cup cold water
- cup heavy whipping cream
- ½ cup honey
- 2 Tbsp. brown sugar
- ½ tsp. ground cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. ground cloves Additional ground cinnamon, optional
- 1. Bring water to a boil in a large saucepan; add tea bags. Cover and steep for 3-5 minutes.
- 2. Meanwhile, in a small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over cold water; let stand for 1 minute. Heat over low heat, stirring until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir into tea mixture. Discard tea bags.
- 3. Stir in the cream, honey, brown sugar, cinnamon and cloves. Pour into a 5-cup mold coated with cooking spray or divide among six dessert dishes. Cover and refrigerate until set. Sprinkle with additional cinnamon if desired.

Easy Unmolding Coating a mold with cooking spray ensures the easy release of your gelatin from the mold.

EASY SOLUTIONS from readers & our test kitchen

White onions

turn sweet when sauteed. They are the traditional Mexican cooking.

Onions!

Raw, cooked or caramelized, these versatile tearjerkers have real appeal

Pearl onions liven up your side dishes. Pickled, this variety is an essential cocktail garnish.

Leeks and their mellow taste often win over those who dislike other onions.

Green onions, or scallions, are onions harvested before maturity. Chop some on packaged foods to add zip and zing.

Yellow onions, with their sharp flavor, are the most common and versatile.

Chives can be used in place of green onions if you triple the amount (they're mild).

Shallots' flavor gets harsher as they get larger. Look for small, young bulbs.

Red onions add great color to dishes. Use fresh or lightly grilled.

So Good, You'll Cry

Caramelizing onions adds rich sweetness to most any dish. Our test kitchen's Laura Scharnott walks you through this simple technique lowly cooking onions draws out their natural sweetness as the sugar in them caramelizes. The result is sweet, tender, dark-brown onions that enhance the taste of just about anything from soups to meats.

All you need is oil, onions and a little time. You can caramelize any onion, but some varieties might caramelize more quickly depending on their sugar content. Standard yellow onions work well and actually have more sugar than Vidalia and other sweet onions.

More important than the type of onion you choose is how you prepare it:

- Slice onions into consistent shapes and thicknesses to ensure they cook and caramelize evenly.
- Onions will lose about ²/₃ of their volume as their water evaporates during cooking, so start out with more than you think you need.
- Watch the onions closely and stir frequently. As they near the end of cooking, you might need to stir every minute to prevent burning.

Jazz 'Em Up

Caramelized onions take on new personalities with these mix-ins:

- Fresh or dried herbs
- A splash of balsamic vinegar
- A few tablespoons of red wine or beef broth

Add 'Em On

Onions this good make just about anything taste better. Try them with:

- Mashed, baked or roasted potatoes
- Steak, poultry or sausages
- Scrambled eggs and omelets
- Sauteed vegetables

HOW TO CARAMELIZE ONIONS

1. Slice

Slice root and top off onion; cut in half. Peel and slice. Use a large, heavy skillet so the onions are not crowded. Heat oil in the pan over medium heat; add the onions and stir to coat.

2. Stir

Cook onions, stirring occasionally from the bottom every 5 minutes. Once onions begin to brown, reduce heat. Continue cooking 20-30 minutes, stirring every 2-5 minutes until onions are golden-brown, adding more oil if needed.

3. Caramelize

When onions reach their desired color, remove from heat to stop cooking. Sprinkle onions with salt, pepper and sugar to enhance flavors if desired.

Ultimate Panini

"The aroma of onions cooking at country fairs and street vendor carts makes me crave caramelized onions. I wanted to pair them with something special, and this sandwich is just that."

-CHARLENE BROGAN FALMOUTH, MAINE

PREP: 40 MIN. • COOK: 5 MIN./BATCH YIELD: 4 SERVINGS

- 2 large onions, sliced
- 2 Tbsp. canola oil
- 4 slices provolone cheese
- 1/2 lb. thinly sliced deli ham
- 1 large tomato, sliced
- garlic-flavored sandwich pickle slices
- slices Italian bread (½ in. thick)
- 2 Tbsp. butter, softened

- 1. In a large skillet, saute onions in oil until softened. Reduce heat to medium-low; cook, stirring occasionally, for 30 minutes or until deep golden-brown.
- 2. Layer the cheese, ham, tomato, pickles and caramelized onions on four bread slices; top with remaining bread. Spread outsides of sandwiches with butter.
- 3. Cook on a panini maker or indoor grill for 3-4 minutes or until bread is browned and cheese is melted.

Make extra caramelized onions to keep on hand in the fridge (3 or 4 days) or freezer (up to 3 months) to dress up soups, salads, sandwiches and dips in a flash.

Give It a Rest

When and what you eat can either help or hinder your ability to fall asleep at night

For some people, getting a good night's sleep is a challenge. Stress and worry are often the culprits, but your eating habits also might be to blame. So try these recommendations from the Mayo Clinic—they might help you get some shut-eye:

- Instead of a heavy evening meal, choose a light dinner at least 2 hours before going to bed. Avoid spicy and fatty foods, particularly if you suffer from occasional heartburn. And watch your liquids; they can cause you to wake up for repeated trips to the bathroom.
- Skip caffeine and alcohol in the evening. Caffeine will keep you awake, so avoid it for 8 hours before bedtime. And alcohol actually disrupts your sleep, often by causing snoring or sleep apnea.

Schooled in Nutrition

School cafeterias get a bad rap, and rightly so, for serving an overabundance of chicken nuggets, pizza and hot dogs. But that's slowly changing: Schools nationwide are serving more fresh fruits, vegetables, whole grains and low-fat dairy. According to a survey by the School Nutrition Association, nearly 70 percent of districts have also reduced or limited added sodium, and two-thirds have reduced or limited added sugars in cafeteria food.

SAY CHEESE

Grilled cheese, cheese enchiladas, macaroni and cheese—who doesn't crave these creamy favorites?
But the calories in a scrumptious chunk of cheddar, Gorgonzola or other varieties might have you thinking twice about indulging.

The good news is you don't have to give it up, says Thomas Cimo, a dietitian at New York-Presbyterian Hospital. Instead, when you want to include cheese in your diet, choose other foods wisely, watch your portion size and read labels.

An ounce of cheese made from whole milk generally contains 80 to 120 calories and 6 to 10 grams of fat (4 to 6 grams saturated fat). An ounce is about the size of a pair of dice. Cimo recommends keeping portions to 1 ounce, which might be difficult for cheese lovers.

Processed cheese slices can help with portion control. Some even come in 2% varieties. However, the taste and texture of low-fat cheeses might take a little getting used to when compared to full-fat varieties. But if you're adding the cheese to a casserole, burrito or an omelet, these lower-calorie options will do just fine.

Did you know? Egg yolks may be good for your eyes. The yolks are a rich source of lutein and zeaxanthin, relatives of beta carotene that may help keep eyes healthy and have been linked to a reduced risk of age-related macular degeneration.

Stew Savvy For variety, try serving this stew over rice, biscuits or noodles.

Stephanie's Slow Cooker Stew

Start this warming one-pot meal before you head out for the day. By the time you get home, the well-seasoned meat will be tender and mouthwatering.

—STEPHANIE RABBITT-SCHAPPACHER
WEST CHESTER, OHIO

PREP: 20 MIN. • COOK: 7½ HOURS YIELD: 5 SERVINGS

- 1 lb. beef stew meat
- 2 medium potatoes, peeled and cubed
- 1 can (14½ oz.) beef broth
- 1 can (11½ oz.) V8 juice
- 2 celery ribs, chopped
- 2 medium carrots, chopped
- 1 medium sweet onion, chopped
- 3 bay leaves
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. dried thyme
- ½ tsp. chili powder
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 1 Tbsp. cold water
- 1/2 cup frozen corn
- ½ cup frozen peas

In a 3-qt. slow cooker, combine the first 12 ingredients. Cover and cook on low for 7-8 hours or until meat is tender. Discard bay leaves.
 In a small bowl, combine the cornstarch and water until smooth; stir into stew. Add corn and peas. Cover and cook on high for 30 minutes or until thickened. ■

Turn Over a New Leaf

Give bay leaves a try when you want to add subtle herb flavor to everything from sauces to stews

Bay Leaf Bits

- Whole bay leaves lend a woody, astringent flavor to foods, but they are not edible. Be sure to remove them before serving.
- Two kinds of bay leaves are available in the United States: Turkish and California. The subtle flavor of the Turkish variety is preferred for most cooking.
- Bay leaves come from the evergreen bay laurel tree. In ancient Rome and Greece, victors were crowned with wreaths made of the leaves, and winning athletes received garlands of them.
- For flavor, some cooks add a bay leaf to the water when cooking pasta.

Lemon Aide

A California cook-in-training helps sweeten Grandma's kitchen

"It's a joy to bake with her. I love the pride and happiness on her face," says Phyllis, better known as "Gooma" to Riley. "Cooking and baking are about the only girlie things I can get Riley to do. She's on the football team and, I hear, is one of the best players."

While Riley may often prefer catching pigskins, she gladly walked off the gridiron for her first, and most favorite, baking project with Grandma—lemon poppy seed cake.

"Gooma let me do everything," says Riley. "I opened the packages, measured the oil, water and poppy seeds, and cracked the eggs. Some shells got in, but I got them out. Next time, I'm supposed to crack the eggs into a separate bowl, then put them in the big bowl."

According to Riley, the best part of making the cake was eating it. "I ate a lot of it," she says. "Gooma and Goompa said it was the best ever." So what's next on Riley and Gooma's list to bake? "Well, I loved baking pumpkin pies for Thanksgiving," Riley says. "So now I want to make an Oreo Cookie Cake."

With a little help from her grandmother, who thinks Riley will someday be a great cook and baker, that cookie cake is sure to score a touchdown in the kitchen.

Grandma's Lemon Poppy Seed Cake

"This is from a collection of family recipes. Riley likes that it tastes like lemons, but is sweet. It's always moist and wonderful."

-PHYLLIS HARMON NELSON, WISCONSIN

PREP: 20 MIN • BAKE: 30 MIN. + COOLING YIELD: 15 SERVINGS

- pkg. (18¼ oz.) lemon cake mix
- 1 pkg. (3.4 oz.) instant vanilla pudding mix
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup water
- ½ cup canola oil
- 1/4 cup poppy seeds

DRIZZLE:

- 2 cups confectioners' sugar
- 2 Tbsp. water
- 2 Tbsp. lemon juice

1. In a large bowl, combine the cake mix, pudding mix, eggs, water and oil; beat on low speed for 30 seconds. Beat on medium for 2 minutes. Fold in poppy seeds. Transfer to a greased and floured 13-in. x 9-in. baking pan. Bake at 350° for 30-35 minutes or until a toothpick inserted near the center comes out clean. Cool on a wire rack. For drizzle, combine confectioners' sugar, water and lemon juice; drizzle over cake. Riley and Gooma's Tip: "Make this recipe as muffins by pouring batter into greased muffin tins. Keep an eye on them since they bake quicker."

Be gourmet. The Classico Way.

Ham and Cheese Cannelloni

A Classico exclusive Recipe from Every Day with Rachael Ray

Serves 4 / Prep: 15 minutes Cook: 20 minutes

1 cup whole-milk ricotta cheese 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

1 large egg

One 15-ounce jar Classico® Light Creamy Alfredo Sauce

8 egg-roll wrappers (available in the frozen Asian or refrigerated section)

8 slices deli ham

1/2 cup freshly grated Parmigiano-Reggiano cheese

- 1. Preheat the oven to 400°. In a medium bowl, combine the ricotta, mozzarella and the egg.
- 2. Reserve 3/4 cup of the Alfredo Sauce and spread the remaining sauce in the bottom of a 9-by-13-inch baking dish.
- 3. Arrange an egg-roll wrapper on a work surface. Spread 3 tablespoons of the ricotta mixture over the wrapper, cover with a slice of ham, then roll up to form a log, jelly-roll style. Repeat with the remaining wrappers and place the cannelloni, seam side down, in a single layer in the baking dish.
- 4. Spoon the reserved Alfredo Sauce over the cannelloni, top with the Parmigiano-Reggiano and bake for 20 minutes, or until golden brown and bubbly.

Must-Have Muffins

By Kristi Larson Culinary Specialist, Taste of Home Cooking School

spend a good deal of time on the road doing cooking shows on the West Coast. Whether I'm in Idaho, California or Oregon, I frequently get questions and comments about one baked good in particular: muffins. They seem to be a favorite since they're simple to make and can be enjoyed anytime.

Here's a foolproof muffin recipe, sent in by a reader from Tennessee, that's a Cooking School favorite. I recommend you make an extra batch to keep in the freezer, ready to warm up in the microwave for a to-go breakfast or a yummy snack.

Kristi's Tips

- If you don't have a zester, use the small holes on a box grater and run the orange over it diagonally.
- This recipe calls for 1 cup of cranberries. A 12-ounce bag usually yields about 3 cups whole or 2½ cups chopped. Use a food processor with quick pulses to speed up the chopping process.

Rise to the Occasion

The heavenly aroma, the crunch of the golden crust, the total satisfaction that comes from homemade yeast bread is well worth the extra effort. And it's easier than you might think with these down-to-earth recipes and our test kitchen's helpful problem-solving guide on page 62

Favorite Swedish Rye

"My family likes a variety of breads. I made up this recipe as an experiment years ago, and it's still a staple in my home.

Sometimes I serve it with cheese and deli coldcuts." —LORRAINE CALAND THUNDER BAY, ONTARIO

PREP: 45 MIN. + RISING BAKE: 25 MIN. + COOLING YIELD: 3 LOAVES (8 WEDGES EACH)

- 2 cups golden raisins
- 1 Tbsp. active dry yeast
- 2½ cups warm water (110° to 115°)
- 34 cup packed brown sugar
- ½ cup molasses
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 cups rye flour
- 7 to 8 cups all-purpose flour

1. Place raisins in a small bowl. Cover with boiling water; let stand for 5 minutes. Drain and set aside. 2. In a large bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add the brown sugar, molasses, shortening, salt, rye flour and 4 cups all-purpose flour. Beat on medium speed for 3 minutes. Stir in enough remaining flour to form a soft dough (dough will be sticky). 3. Turn onto a floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic, about 6-8 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease the top. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.

4. Punch dough down; shape into three round loaves. Place on greased baking sheets. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 45 minutes. Bake at 375° for 25-30 minutes or until bread sounds hollow when tapped. Remove to wire racks to cool.

Change It Up "You can replace the raisins with cranberries," suggests Lorraine.

Dilled Wheat Bread

"My house smells terrific when this wonderful bread is in the oven. It makes a fantastic meal served with soup. Cut thick slices with an electric knife and eat them while they're still warm. Yum!" —BEVERLY PRESTON FOND DU LAC, WISCONSIN

PREP: 25 MIN. + RISING • BAKE: 30 MIN. YIELD: 1 LOAF (12 SLICES)

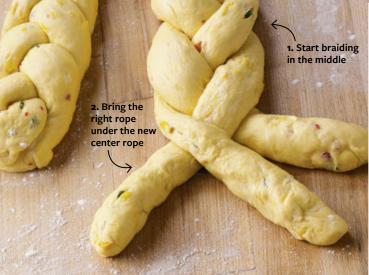

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- cup whole wheat flour
- Tbsp. sugar
- Tbsp. dried minced onion
- pkg. (¼ oz.) active dry yeast
- 2 tsp. dill weed
- 1 tsp. salt
- cup (8 oz.) cream-style cottage cheese
- ½ cup water
- Tbsp. butter
- tsp. butter, melted Coarse salt, optional

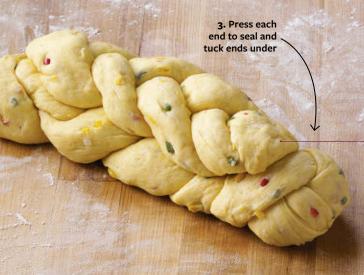

1. In a large bowl, combine 3/4 cup all-purpose flour, whole wheat flour, sugar, onion, yeast, dill and salt. In a small saucepan, heat the cottage cheese, water and 1 Tbsp. butter to 120°-130°. Add to dry ingredients; beat just until moistened. Add egg; beat until smooth. Stir in enough remaining all-purpose flour to form a soft dough (dough will be sticky). 2. Turn onto a floured surface;

- knead until smooth and elastic, about 6-8 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease the top. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1 hour. 3. Punch dough down. Shape into
- a loaf. Place in a greased 8-in. x 4-in. loaf pan. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 45 minutes.
- 4. Bake at 350° for 25-30 minutes or until golden brown. Remove to a wire rack. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with coarse salt if desired.

On the Side Serve these delightful rolls warm with the slowcooked stew on page 45.

Confetti Fiesta Braids

"This bread is based on the winning recipe in a local contest I judged. I turned it into a double braid and added more peppers. It's not difficult and is well worth the effort. Plus, it smells glorious when baking!" —FANCHEON RESLER

PREP: 1 HOUR + RISING BAKE: 25 MIN. + COOLING

YIELD: 2 LOAVES (20 SLICES EACH)

5½ to 6½ cups all-purpose flour

1 cup cornmeal

BLUFFTON, INDIANA FE

- 2 pkg. (¼ oz. each) active dry yeast
- 1 Tbsp. sugar
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup buttermilk
- ½ cup butter, cubed
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 eggs
- 1½ cups (6 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- 1 can (8¼ oz.) cream-style corn
- ½ cup finely chopped sweet red, yellow and/or orange peppers
- ½ cup chopped seeded jalapeno peppers
- 1/4 cup butter, melted

1. In a large bowl, combine 4 cups flour, cornmeal, yeast, sugar and salt. In a small saucepan, heat the buttermilk, butter and onion to 120°-130°. Add to dry ingredients; beat just until moistened. Add eggs; beat until smooth. Stir in the cheese, corn and peppers. Stir in enough remaining flour to form a stiff dough.

2. Turn onto a floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic, about 6-8 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease the top. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.

- 3. Punch dough down. Turn onto a lightly floured surface; divide dough in half. Divide half of dough into two portions so that one portion is twice the size of the other; shape larger portion into three 16-in. ropes. Place on a greased baking sheet and braid; pinch ends to seal and tuck under.

 4. Shape smaller portion into three
- 10-in. ropes. Braid on a lightly floured surface; tuck ends under. Brush bottom of braid with water and place over larger braid. Cover loaf and let rise until doubled, about 45 minutes. Repeat with remaining dough.
- 5. Bake at 350° for 25-30 minutes or until golden brown. Brush with melted butter. Cool on a wire rack. Refrigerate leftovers.

Editor's Note: When cutting hot peppers, disposable gloves are recommended. Avoid touching your face.

Refrigerator Rolls Homemade dinner rolls couldn't be tastier. Their buttery flavor makes them a heartwarming accompaniment to soups, salads and a variety of entrees.

—JENNIFER KAUFFMAN FIGUEROAGREENVILLE, SOUTH CAROLINA

PREP: 25 MIN. + CHILLING • BAKE: 15 MIN. YIELD: 1 DOZEN

- 1 pkg. (¼ oz.) active dry yeast
- 1/2 cup warm water (110° to 115°)
- ½ cup warm 2% milk (110° to 115°)
- ½ cup butter-flavored shortening
- 1 Tbsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- egg
- 3 cups all-purpose flour

1. In a large bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add the milk, shortening, sugar, salt, egg and 2 cups flour. Beat on medium speed for 2 minutes. Stir in enough remaining flour to form a soft dough (do not knead). Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease the top. Cover and refrigerate overnight. 2. Punch dough down. Turn onto a lightly floured surface; divide into 12 pieces. Shape each into a ball. Place 2 in. apart on greased baking sheets. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1½ hours. 3. Bake at 400° for 15-20 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from pans to wire racks.

Get Your Braided Best

To braid your loaf, arrange three ropes of dough lengthwise on a floured surface so they are almost touching. 1. Starting in the middle, loosely bring the left rope under the center rope. 2. Bring the right rope under the new center rope and repeat until you reach the end. 3. Repeat the process with the other half. Press each end to seal and tuck ends under.

Tomato-Herb Focaccia

With its medley of herbs and tomatoes, this rustic bread will liven up any occasion, from a family meal to a game day get-together. And it won't last long.

—JANET MILLER INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA

PREP: 30 MIN. + RISING • BAKE: 20 MIN. YIELD: 1 LOAF (12 PIECES)

- 1 pkg. (¼ oz.) active dry yeast
- 1 cup warm water (110° to 115°)
- 2 Tbsp. olive oil, divided
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 tsp. each dried oregano, thyme and rosemary, crushed
- ½ tsp. dried basil Dash pepper
- 2 to 2½ cups all-purpose flour
- 2 plum tomatoes, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup shredded part-skim mozzarella cheese
- 1 Tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese

- 1. In a large bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add 1 Tbsp. oil, salt, sugar, garlic powder, herbs, pepper and 1½ cups flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in enough remaining flour to form a soft dough (dough will be sticky).
- 2. Turn onto a floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic, about 6-8 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease the top. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.
- 3. Punch dough down. Cover and let rest for 10 minutes. Shape into a 13-in. x 9-in. rectangle; place on a greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 30 minutes. With fingertips, make several dimples over top of dough.
- 4. Brush dough with remaining oil; arrange tomatoes over the top. Sprinkle with cheeses. Bake at 400° for 20-25 minutes or until golden brown. Remove to a wire rack.

Proofing Yeast

To make sure active dry yeast (not quick-rise yeast) is alive and active, you may first want to proof it.

Here's How:

Dissolve one package of yeast and 1 teaspoon sugar in ½ cup warm water (110° to 115°). Let stand for 5 to 10 minutes. If the mixture foams up, the yeast mixture can be used because it's active. If it doesn't foam, the yeast should be discarded, and you'll need to proof another package.

When Good Bread Goes Bad

Having trouble with your bread? Let us help with our problem-solving pointers

☐ BREAD DIDN'T RISE WELL OR NOT AT ALL

- · Yeast was not fresh.
- · Liquid was too hot and killed the yeast.
- · Dough was kneaded too much or not enough. Knead only until the dough does not tear easily when stretched.
- Oven temperature was too low. To check your oven's temperature, place an oven thermometer at the center of the oven and set the oven to 350°. Check the temperature indicated on the thermometer after 20 minutes. If it's not within 5 degrees of 350, you'll need to adjust the oven's temperature control.

- There's too much liquid or not enough flour in dough. When mixing dough, start with a minimum amount of flour until the dough reaches desired consistency (soft, sticky, stiff or firm).
- · Dough was allowed to rise for too long. Proper rising helps the development of the bread texture. Let dough rise in a warm (80° to 85°), draft-free area.
- · Oven temperature was too low.

☐ BREAD IS DRY AND CRUMBLY

- Too much flour was used.
- · Dough was allowed to rise too long.

☐ BREAD IS DOUGHY ON THE BOTTOM OR HAS A SLIGHTLY GUMMY TEXTURE

- Bread was underbaked. Test for doneness at the minimum recommended baking time. Bread is done when it's golden brown and sounds hollow when tapped on the bottom. Or insert an instant-read thermometer in the thickest part of the loaf. The bread is done when the thermometer reads 200°.
- Bread stayed in the pan too long after baking. Remove breads from pans and cool on wire racks. Let breads cool for at least 20 minutes before slicing. Use a serrated knife and a sawing motion when cutting.

☐ LOAF SINKS IN THE CENTER

Dough rose too long during the second rise time in the pan.

☐ BREAD HAS LARGE HOLES

- · Dough was not kneaded enough.
- · Air was not compressed out of the dough during shaping.

☐ BREAD CRUMBLES WHEN CUT

- Too much flour was used.
- · Dough was kneaded too much or not enough.
- Dough was allowed to rise too long or not long enough.
- Oven temperature was too high.

Baking Bits

- Use butter, stick margarine (with at least 80 percent oil) or shortening. Don't use light or whipped butter, diet spread or tub margarine.
- Use aluminum pans with a dull rather than shiny or dark finish. Glass dishes and dark finishes will produce darker crusts.
- To allow for good air circulation while baking, leave at least 1 inch of space between pans and the sides of the oven.

quest to jazz up dinnertime led Charlene Chambers (left) to create her prize-winning Champion Lamb Burgers.

"I was searching for an alternative to the usual beef burgers I was serving," says Charlene, of Ormond Beach, Florida. "My family loves lamb, so I built a burger recipe around it. It's been a favorite ever since."

This knock-your-socks-off burger isn't Charlene's first culinary coup. An avid cook and baker, she's already won quite a few recipe contests.

"My husband, Jere, is always happy to taste-test my concoctions," Charlene says. "I love trying new recipes and don't make a dish a second time unless he and I describe it as fabulous."

Their children. Nicole and Matthew. are grown and have families of their own, but Charlene still loves cooking for them when she can. "My son, a major in the Army, came to visit last November before leaving for Afghanistan. I made him a huge Thanksgiving dinner, even though the actual holiday was a few weeks away. And I always look forward to cooking with our six grandchildren when we visit them in Tennessee and North Carolina."

When Charlene and Jere aren't visiting family, they're traveling the world. "We've been almost everywhere in Europe, the Caribbean islands and the United States. We're off to Alaska next. In fact, that's what my prize money is going toward."

No doubt about it, the food Charlene tries while exploring at home and abroad help inspire her blue-ribbon recipes. But the real secret to her culinary success lies in a true passion for cooking.

"I thrive on it," she says. "It's something I became good at with a lot of practice, which I got while feeding my best critics-my family."

Blue Cheese-Onion Steak Bites

PREP: 15 MIN. • COOK: 35 MIN. • YIELD: 4 DOZEN

- 3 large onions, thinly sliced into rings
- 12 garlic cloves, minced
- Tbsp. butter
- beef tenderloin steaks (6 oz. each)
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- loaf (10½ oz.) French bread baguette, cut into 1/4-in. slices

SPREAD:

- 4 oz. cream cheese, softened
- cup (4 oz.) crumbled blue cheese
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/8 tsp. pepper

- 1. In a large skillet, saute onions and garlic in butter until softened. Reduce heat to medium-low; cook, stirring occasionally, for 30 minutes or until golden brown.
- 2. Meanwhile, sprinkle beef with salt and pepper. Using long-handled tongs, moisten a paper towel with cooking oil and lightly coat the grill rack.
- 3. Grill steaks, covered, over medium heat or broil 4 in. from the heat for 5-7 minutes on each side or until meat reaches desired doneness (for medium-rare, a meat thermometer should read 145°; medium, 160°; well-done, 170°). Cut into thin slices.
- 4. Place bread on ungreased baking sheets. Bake at 400° for 4-6 minutes or until lightly browned.
- 5. Meanwhile, place the cream cheese, blue cheese, salt and pepper in a food processor; cover and process until blended. Spread each bread slice with 1 tsp. cheese mixture; top with steak and onions.

Marsala Pork Chops

PREP: 15 MIN. • COOK: 20 MIN. • YIELD: 4 SERVINGS

- 1/2 cup seasoned bread crumbs
- 4 bone-in center-cut pork loin chops (6 oz. each)
- 3 Tbsp. olive oil, divided
- 3 medium onions, thinly sliced
- 6 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 cup white wine or chicken broth
- Tbsp. marsala wine or chicken broth
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/8 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup cold butter, cubed Hot cooked egg noodles

- 1. Place bread crumbs in a large resealable plastic bag. Add pork chops, one at a time, and shake to coat. In a large skillet, cook chops in 2 Tbsp. oil over medium heat for 4-6 minutes on each side or until a meat thermometer reads 160°. Remove and keep warm. 2. In the same skillet, saute onions
- in remaining oil until tender. Add garlic; cook 2 minutes longer. Add the white wine, marsala, pepper and salt, stirring to loosen browned bits from pan. Cook, stirring occasionally, until liquid is nearly evaporated. Stir in butter until melted. Serve with pork chops and noodles.

Lick-the-Bowl-Clean Hummus

SARAH GILBERT BEAVERTON, OREGON

"Everyone loves hummus, but I enjoy the garlic and onion types so much that I decided to let them shine in this homemade version. I get so many compliments when I serve it!"

Saucy Garlic Chicken

JOANNA JOHNSON FLOWER MOUND, TEXAS

"Roasted garlic lends a rich flavor to this appetizing entree, and it complements the spinach nicely. Ideal for entertaining, the recipe can be assembled in advance and popped in the oven when guests arrive."

Italian Stuffed Portobellos

JEANNE HOLT SAINT PAUL, MINNESOTA

"Golden, caramelized onions and creamy roasted garlic are an ideal match for the flavors in this recipe. It's like a quick transport to a ristorante in Rome. For a bit of heat, add red pepper flakes while sauteing the onions."

Crispy Pub Rings

JENNIFER RODRIGUEZ WEST JORDAN, UTAH

"I created this recipe for a beer-tasting party we hosted (my husband brews his own), and they were a hit. Serve them when you entertain or on those nights when you want homemade 'take-out' food."

Saucy Garlic Chicken

PREP: 40 MIN. + COOLING • BAKE: 35 MIN. • YIELD: 6 SERVINGS

- 4 whole garlic bulbs
- 2 Tbsp. olive oil, divided
- 1 pkg. (9 oz.) fresh baby spinach
- 1/4 tsp. salt, divided
- ½ tsp. coarsely ground pepper, divided
- 6 boneless skinless chicken breast halves (6 oz. each)
- 6 Tbsp. butter, cubed
- 6 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
- 3 cups 2% milk
- 2½ cups grated Parmesan cheese, divided
- 1/8 tsp. nutmeg
 Hot cooked pasta
 Chopped tomato and minced fresh parsley, optional

- 1. Remove papery outer skin from garlic (do not peel or separate cloves). Cut tops off of garlic bulbs; brush bulbs with 1 Tbsp. oil. Wrap each bulb in heavy-duty foil. Bake at 425° for 30-35 minutes or until softened. Cool for 10-15 minutes.
- 2. Meanwhile, place spinach in a greased 13-in. x 9-in. baking dish; sprinkle with 1/4 tsp. each of salt and pepper. In a large skillet, brown chicken in remaining oil on both sides; place over spinach.
- 3. In a large saucepan, melt butter. Stir in flour until smooth; gradually add milk. Bring to a boil; cook and stir for 1-2 minutes or until thickened. Stir in 2 cups cheese, nutmeg and remaining salt and pepper. Transfer to a blender; squeeze softened garlic into blender. Cover and process until smooth. Pour mixture over chicken.

 4. Cover and bake for 30-35 minutes
- 4. Cover and bake for 30-35 minutes or until a meat thermometer reads 160° and sauce is bubbly. Uncover; sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake 5 minutes longer. Serve with pasta. Sprinkle with tomato and parsley if desired.

CELEBRATING the PEOPLE around the Taste of Home table

Handwritten from the Heart

By Judy Batson 🙃

hen I moved 10 years ago, it seemed the right time to get rid of tons of books I had been hauling around with me all over the world. I loaded up the back of my old Buick station wagon with books that had belonged to my parents and grandparents. I held out on a few—some historical narratives, a few classic novels. And at the last minute, I put aside some old cookbooks that were literally falling apart. Telling myself that one day I would repair those books, I put them in a box on a closet shelf in my new home and, of course, forgot all about them.

Last year, I decided to clean out some closets and came across the box of books. The first book I chose to repair was a 1943 edition of Joy of Cooking, which had belonged to my mother-in-law. The covers had come loose from the binding. Some of the pages were falling out, and a few were breaking off at the edges.

Going through the pages, I found some handwritten recipes on scraps of paper, and clippings from magazines and newspapers. Then, I came across four folded pieces of paper that made my heart almost stop beating.

The handwriting belonged to my son, Will, who died in 1994 at the age of 34 as the result of a tragic accident. As I read what he had written, I began to recognize the recipe and directions for his favorite meal—a chicken, vegetable and rice casserole I used to prepare for our family at least twice a month. On the last page were my own scribbled notes showing measurements and directions. I had no idea that he had found my notes, transcribed them into a meaningful recipe in his own handwriting, typed them out on our old Selectric II and enclosed them inside that old cookbook.

Now, when I fix that meal, Will is right there beside me as I follow his typed directions. To make this recipe more memorable, he added his own ingredient—his love.

y mother, Nena Linares, wanted to be a journalist and write about the world and its many cuisines. But love got in the way; she got married and became a homemaker instead.

She may not have had the chance to write about food, but my mom has had plenty of opportunities to prepare it. When my brother, Rick, and I were growing up, she made breakfast, lunch and dinner, plus snacks 24/7. There was always something ready in the fridge or on the stove for us to eat. And everything was from scratch.

The food she put on the table was a mouthwatering blend of cultures. Mom, who lives in Los Angeles, was born in Cuba; her parents were transplants from Spain. Early on, she learned the basics of French and Spanish cooking from her grandmother. Her mother-in-law showed her how to make authentic Cuban food, and our Sicilian stepdad, Fred, taught her the Italian classics.

We couldn't get enough of Mom's fluffy steamed white rice, which she made every day. I loved it topped with a velvety ocean of black beans. Mom made the best black beans I've ever tasted, and I've had many variations. But my favorite of favorites is still her Papas Rellenas. A friend described them best: "They're like shepherd's pie rolled into a ball." You'll find her recipes for both these dishes here, along with a wonderful salad and rice pudding to round out the meal.

When Mom and Fred were entertaining, she would feed my brother and me early, and we'd go to our rooms to read or watch TV. Now and then, she'd pop in with some goodies. Rick and I couldn't resist taking a peek at the grown-up party. I loved watching mom dance in her beautiful party dresses and heels. In fact, she was always dressed up. She once told me that a young woman needed to be at her best, whether she was at home cooking and cleaning, or out with friends.

Both Mom and my stepdad shared their cooking skills with me, and I have passed them on to my children. I often make her steamed rice and, on special occasions, her wonderful black beans and Papas Rellenas. I hope you'll try her recipes—and maybe do a rumba or two.

Nena's Papas Rellenas

A Cuban classic, these satisfying, crispycoated potato balls are filled with a savory ground beef mixture known as picadillo.

-NENA LINARES LOS ANGELES

PREP: 45 MIN. • COOK: 5 MIN./BATCH YIELD: 2½ DOZEN

- 2½ lbs. potatoes (about 8 medium), peeled and cut into wedges
- 1 lb. lean ground beef (90% lean)
- small green pepper, finely chopped
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- ½ cup tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup sliced green olives with pimientos
- ½ cup raisins
- 1¼ tsp. salt, divided
- 1¼ tsp. pepper, divided
- ½ tsp. paprika
- 1 tsp. garlic powder
- 2 eggs, beaten
- cup seasoned bread crumbs
 Oil for deep-fat frying

- 1. Place potatoes in a large saucepan and cover with water. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and cook for 15-20 minutes or until tender.
- 2. Meanwhile, in a large skillet, cook the beef, green pepper and onion over medium heat until meat is no longer pink; drain. Stir in the tomato sauce, olives, raisins, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper and paprika; heat through.
- 3. Drain potatoes; mash with garlic powder and remaining salt and pepper. Shape 2 Tbsp. potatoes into a patty; place a heaping tablespoonful of filling in the center. Shape potatoes around filling, forming a ball. Repeat.
- 4. Place eggs and bread crumbs in separate shallow bowls. Dip potato balls in the eggs, then roll in bread crumbs. In an electric skillet or deep fryer, heat oil to 375°. Fry potato balls, a few at a time, for 1-2 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on paper towels.

Editor's Note: Instead of fiving the Papas Rellenas, you can place them on baking sheets and bake at 450° for 20 minutes or until heated through.

More recipes on page 74

MOM'S TIP "Mom would lightly boil the potatoes for her Papas Rellenas and mash them without butter or milk," says Marina. "So the balls would not break apart, she would cook the savory ground beef and let it cool before shaping the potatoes around the filling."

Cuban Black Beans

This hearty side dish starts with a sofrito, a combination of finely minced onions and green peppers. The tomato puree and sherry give the beans a distinctive flavor. —NENA LINARES LOS ANGELES

Cooking Therapy

A journey of healing passed squarely through this Field Editor's kitchen

By Traci Wynne 🕫

hen I was growing up, my family spent most Sundays at my grandparents' house, having supper around their big dining room table. Grandma was an amazing cook, and the aromas that came out of her kitchen were so mouthwatering that it was hard to wait for dinner.

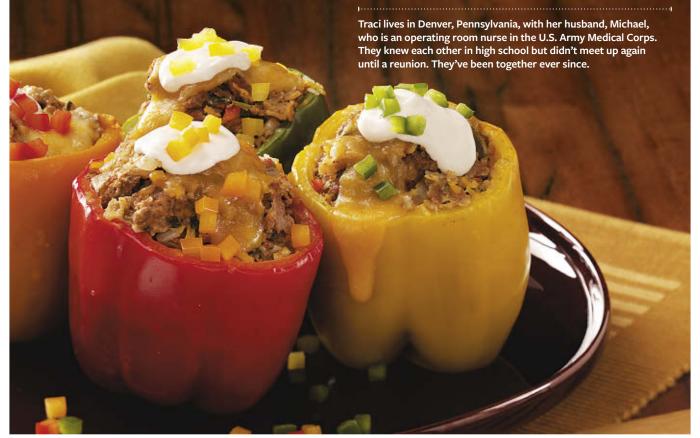

Those memories made such an impact on me that I wanted to cook, too. My mother, who's also a wonderful cook, tried to teach me, but she doesn't use recipes. So I ended up buying a gazillion cookbooks to figure out how to make the foods I enjoy. Eventually, I began experimenting and coming up with my own recipes.

Then an accident left me permanently disabled. I will always walk with a cane or crutches, depending on how I'm doing. After years of physical therapy and other treatments, I found that returning to the kitchen was one of the most beneficial remedies for my body and spirit.

Because I can't bend down to put food into the oven or lift heavy pots and dishes, I had to rely on the assistance of my wonderful parents, who have always been there for me. Recently, I married my husband, Michael, who's a huge help as well.

I also turned to appliances that make cooking easier, such as my pressure cooker. I got interested in pressure cooking because of my mother's beef stew. The meat would be so tender that it just fell apart. Pressure cookers not only tenderize, they cook fast—and the steam seals in nutrients. I was afraid of pressure cookers when I was little, but they've come a long way in safety and are much easier to use now. I can fill one on the counter instead of having to get help to use the oven.

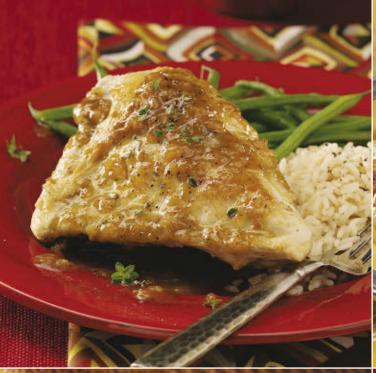

Cooking is much more than therapy—it is my passion. I feel at peace when I'm able to do it. And making someone smile with something I've created is the cherry on top.

Honey-of-a-Meal Chicken

TRACI WYNNE DENVER, PENNSYLVANIA

"Michael is a big fan of honey mustard, so I like to make extra chicken and slice it up for sandwiches the next day. I've also shredded the chicken to serve on sub rolls."

Southwest Beef Brisket

TRACI WYNNE DENVER, PENNSYLVANIA

"This is a big favorite, especially for get-togethers on game day. I like to serve it on rolls with three-bean salad and potato or macaroni salad. But you can also serve it over rice. I even like it cold."

25-Minute Turkey Chili

TRACI WYNNE DENVER, PENNSYLVANIA

"This is a nice change of pace from traditional beef chili, offering a whole different set of flavors to enjoy. I like to serve cheddar cheese bread on the side. You can also serve the chili over rice."

Presto Mexican Peppers

TRACI WYNNE DENVER, PENNSYLVANIA

Traditional stuffed peppers get a Southwestern twist!
"The filling also makes a delicious meat loaf that we even like cold as a sandwich with Mexican-blend or cheddar cheese, mayo and salsa."

Southwest Beef Brisket

PREP: 25 MIN. + MARINATING • COOK: 55 MIN. • YIELD: 8 SERVINGS

- 1 fresh beef brisket (3 lbs.)
- small onion, finely chopped
- serrano pepper, seeded and minced
- tsp. brown sugar
- Tbsp. chili powder
- Tbsp. cider vinegar
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. ground cumin
- 4 tsp. canola oil
- 2⅓ cups water
- 2 cans (10 oz. each) diced tomatoes and green chilies
- medium onion, sliced

- 1. Cut brisket in half. In a large resealable plastic bag, combine the chopped onion, serrano pepper, brown sugar, chili powder, vinegar, garlic, salt and cumin. Add the brisket; seal bag and turn to coat. Refrigerate overnight.
- 2. In a pressure cooker, brown brisket in oil on all sides. Add the water, tomatoes and sliced onion. garlic cloves, minced Close cover securely according to manufacturer's directions.
 - 3. Bring cooker to full pressure over high heat. Reduce heat to medium-high and cook for 55 minutes. (Pressure regulator should maintain a slow steady rocking motion or release of steam; adjust heat if needed.)
 - 4. Remove from the heat; allow pressure to drop on its own. Remove the beef to a platter; serve with the tomato mixture.

Editor's Note: Use fresh beef brisket, not corned beef. When cutting hot peppers, disposable gloves are recommended. Avoid touching your face.

Life Lessons

A Vermont shelter teaches families in need how to eat more healthfully

By Elizabeth Russell • Photography by Reena Bammi

ancy Chase and the volunteers at the Upper Valley Haven—a shelter, food pantry and resource center in White River Junction, Vermont—have long worked to make sure people in their community had a place to turn to meet their basic needs during periods of hardship. Not long ago, they found a unique new way to go beyond those basics.

Clockwise from far left: Nancy and Vickie share a food sample; turnips and ginger from the pantry; Vickie chats with a Haven visitor: a volunteer stocks the shelves.

> "I noticed folks bypassing the fresh vegetables and fruit in our food pantry, saying they didn't know what they were or how to prepare them," says Nancy, the Haven's resource coordinator since 2008.

From that observation, an idea was born. "I dreamed of teaching people to prepare simple, produce-filled recipes 5 days a week," Nancy says. "I wanted to give them a sample, a recipe and all the ingredients they'd need to prepare it themselves."

Soon, with help from friends and volunteers, the Haven's Healthy Eating Program was underway, designed to teach visitors about making healthy choices. "It began with one volunteer preparing soup once a week. Now, there's enough volunteers to cook 5 days a week," says Nancy.

The volunteer cooks prepare dishes for sampling, using the pantry's most abundant produce, which can range from eggplant to ugli fruit, depending on what's been donated. The lessons also have to be practical since many of the Haven's visitors only have access to microwaves or electric skillets.

"It feels a bit like a cooking show," says Vickie Davis, the volunteer cook on Fridays. "And now, since starting the program, the produce is gone at the end of the day."

"Children run to the table asking what they can taste," Nancy adds. "Mothers are amazed that their kids will eat star fruit, kiwi, mango and almost every vegetable we offer. One young mother who always said she didn't eat vegetables has since sampled beets, eggplant, parsnips and sweet potatoes."

Today, when people enter the Haven, they're greeted by the aroma of cooking. "It puts a smile on their faces," says Nancy. "They become more talkative, and that's the start of us forming a relationship with them."

And if all goes according to Nancy's plan, that's one more family who, instead of feeling hunger, will feel a little love.

close*e*ncounter

Many of our Field Editors are recognized in public. Here is one such experience.

66 One of my most memorable 'close encounters' involved a woman from out of town whose husband was in the ICU at the local medical center. While waiting to see him, she was reading Taste of Home and saw my name. She looked in the telephone book, found my phone number and called me.

"She said, 'I hope you don't mind, but I'm sitting here alone in a town where I don't know anyone, and seeing a local name made me feel like I had a friend in a strange place.' We talked until she was able to see her husband.

"I asked her to call and let me know how her husband was, but I never heard from her again. Still, I'm happy I was home the day she called.

If you could take fewer pills, why wouldn't you?

When it comes to arthritis* and body pain relief, you can take fewer pills with Aleve. Just two Aleve have the strength to last all day. That would take four times as many Tylenol. †

Two pills. All-day relief.

For a coupon to try Aleve, visit aleve.com

*Use as directed for minor arthritis pain.
